

Go Outside

Red Rover

What you need:

Outside area

How To Play

Make two lines facing each other, with enough distance to run back and forth between.

The players in each line hold hands together to form a linked line.

The first team to go, chooses a player from the other line and says, "Red Rover Red Rover, send (kids name) right over!"

The chosen kid runs toward the line through a pair of hands and tries to break the grip.

If he breaks the grip, he chooses someone from that line to take back and add to his original line. If not, he stays with the other line now.

The teams keep going like this until one team wins by having all the kids.
