

Go Outside

Stalking the Drum

What you need:

1 drum

Blindfolds for each player

How To Play

This needs to be played in a large outdoor space. One person has the drum and the others spread out in opposite directions of each other and put their blindfolds on. The drummer then beats the drum every so often and can move around a little but he should stay in the area where he started. The blindfolded players have to use their sense of awareness to try and walk toward the drum. As the players get closer to the drum, the beats should be quieter and less often. The goal is for all the blindfolded players to make it to the drummer without taking off their blindfold!
