

Sponge Toss

What you need:

- 1 Large bucket per team
- 1 small bucket per team
- 1 large sponge per team

How to play

Divide players into teams.

Each team forms a line with teammates a little more than an arms length away from each other.

At one end of the line is a large container of water with a sponge in it. The other end of the line has a small bucket.

When signaled to start, teams are to race.

The person at the large container is to throw a wet sponge to next teammate and that person to the next teammate until it reaches the end of the line.

The last person is to squeeze the sponge out into the small bucket and then run to the start of the line, dip the sponge in the large container and repeat the toss down the line.

If sponge is dropped while being passed, it is to be thrown back to the start of the line.

After full rotation of line, meaning everyone has taken sponge out of large container and passed, the team with the most collected water is the winner.
